

Compiling a bibliography

---

The Harvard system

Books (monographs and collections of essays)

Author's surname, her/his first name (date of publication) title of the book. Edition if not the first. Place of publication, publisher:

Farriss, N.M. (1992) Maya Society Under Colonial Rule. The Collective Enterprise of Survival. Princeton, Princeton University Press.

Articles

Author's surname, her/his first name (year of publication) title of the article. Title of the journal, volume and part number, month or season of the year, page numbers of article:

Lewis, L. A. (1996) The 'Weakness' of Women and the Feminization of the Indian in Colonial Mexico. Colonial Latin American Review, 5, June, pp. 73-94.

Articles in electronic journals

Author's surname, her/his first name (year) title of article. Title of journal [type of medium] date of publication, volume number (issue number), pagination or online equivalent <availability statement> [date of accession if necessary]:

Fowler, W. (2004) Joseph Welsh: a British Santanista (Mexico, 1832). Journal of Latin American Studies [internet] 2nd March, 36(1), pp. 29-56 Available from: <<http://www.journals.cup.org>> [Accessed 30th July 2004]

Film

Title (year) Directed by. Place, distributor [type]

Amores perros (2001) Directed by Alejandro González Iñárritu. Mexico, Optimum Releasing [dvd]

Theses

Author's surname, her/his first name (year) title of the thesis. Ph.D. thesis, name of university:

Kanter, D. E. (1993) Hijos del pueblo: Family, Community, and Gender in Rural Mexico, the Toluca Region, 1730-1830. Ph.D. thesis, University of Virginia.